Medicine River Ranch B13-----	unsure if this well has been drilled---	lacking information if so it was late 2013.

The last couple wells drilled are still flowing back frac water, no wells have been plugged on this lease, and to the best of my knowledge all wells are in the Mississippi formation although some wells have produced from Misener formation with lots of oil produced but short lived, and perforated in the Mississippi zone. The Mississippi zone is very wide and has a long production history in this area. Currently there is a rig stacked out on the property waiting for intent to drill and location to be built. They should be drilling a new well within a couple weeks. Information came from kgs website. No guarantee as to its accuracy.
